

There are good reasons to choose KWC faucets

KWC stands for leading Swiss faucet technology, a drive to innovate and many years of experience. Every bathroom and kitchen faucet that leaves our factory in Unterkulm contains the expertise and skill of 140 years of history.

Innovation and quality

Faucets from KWC are renowned in Switzerland and around the world for outstanding quality and innovative technologies that bring a new dimension in convenience. KWC has thereby always shaped and influenced key developments in the faucet industry.

Award-winning design

KWC's expertise in design and innovation is borne out by internationally renowned design awards. Originality, skilful proportions, extraordinarily elegant design and exclusively fashioned faucets characterize KWC's design philosophy and turn KWC faucets into objects of timeless beauty.

KWC thinks about tomorrow today

Basing manufacture in Switzerland, employing lean production methods and using resources responsibly are all core elements of KWC's expertise and help make us competitive, from development and quality assurance right through to customer service. This is sustainability as we at KWC understand it – in addition to environmentally friendly faucet designs that save water and energy without skimping on convenience.

Reliability and safety

A contemporary approach to manufacture combined with decades of experience and in-depth expertise enable us to offer products and services tailored to our customers' needs. Official certifications from SQS* underpin KWC's all-encompassing philosophy of quality.

* KWC was first awarded SQS certification under ISO 9001:2000 for Quality Management Systems in 1996; this was followed in 2002 by SQS certification under ISO 14001:2004 for Environmental Management Systems, and in 2005 by certification for Health and Safety at Work Management Systems in accordance with OHSAS 18001.

KWC – a valuable brand name

KWC's firmly established positive brand image is characterized by the development of aesthetically pleasing and technologically outstanding products that meet customers' requirements and the use of sales and marketing tools that are appropriate to the market. Reliability and safety are solid values that benefit customers and partners alike.
